

GWINNETT COOPERATIVE EXTENSION

PRESENTS

CANNING & PRESERVING THOSE GARDEN GOODIES!

How would you like to learn about the correct way to preserve those “garden goodies” that you have worked so hard to grow? We are offering a class to learn how to can, freeze, and preserve for those winter months ahead. There is no fee for this class.

Our county FASC agent, Ines Beltran, will introduce you to how easy it is to can tomatoes, make your own salsa, put delicious corn in the freezer, and so much more.

We are calling this an “Extended Lunch & Learn.” The class will be Friday, July 2nd, 2010 from 11:30a.m.until 1:30 pm. at Gwinnett Extension Office - 750 South Perry Street - Lawrenceville. We do ask that you RSVP no later than June 30th to Tricia Smith at 678-377-4010 or email her at tricia.smith@gwinnettcountry.com. “So Easy to Preserve” books will be available for purchase ($18.00 cash or check) and video order forms will be available at the class. There will be great handouts on canning instructions, freezing and preserving food safely.

Questions can be directed to Ines Beltran or Tricia Smith at (678)377- 4010.

